

ABOUT

Introduction

Dbii Networks is dedicated to designing, manufacturing, and selling a broad range of networking solutions. Since the company's inception, we produced wireless radios that showed extremely robust performance in the toughest of deployment scenarios.

Dbii is focused on bringing more innovation to the outdoor wireless market as is evident by our recent release of the PRO series radios. Using our PRO series radios, now users can deploy and protect their wireless networks at a third of the cost of the legacy solutions. These innovations not only make protection against surges possible but also reduce down time for your network

Network Performance

Delivering practical, scalable solutions for real-world usage
Head to head testing against competing products include

- Performance advantages of 2 times or more over competing products
 - Cost efficient solutions which means it won't break your budget
 - Unmatched ease of deployment designed by our engineers
-

Service and Support

We guarantee our pre/post sales support. We provide advice on all our networking products. An online forum.html is where you can find the latest information amongst your peers in the industry. If you have any questions about our company or products, feel free to contact us and we'll be happy to answer there for you.